*BERGMANN ASSOCIATES
ADD STAFF IN LANSING;
PLANS GROWTH*

NEWS RELEASE

Lansing, M.I., January 25, 2010 – The Architecture, Engineering & Planning firm Bergmann Associates added eleven people to its Lansing, MI office this month. Formerly with Ledy Design, the nine architects and two engineers will help to broaden the scope of services that Bergmann currently offers from its Lansing office. Acquiring or absorbing respected regional firms with exceptional people is part of Bergmann’s strategic plan for national growth.

Bergmann has a total of 340 employees companywide, with nine offices across Michigan, New York, Pennsylvania and Florida. The new staff will focus on several accounts including building design work for TD Bank, Wal-Mart and Dart Container. Bergmann also conducts engineering and design work for MDOT roadways and bridges from its Lansing office and has been the designer on such notable projects as the reconstruction of 9 Mile Bridge over I-75, the Farm Lane underpasses on the campus of Michigan State University and the rehabilitation of the I-96 / I-696 / I-275 interchange in the cities of Novi and Farmington Hills, MI.

“We have been following Ledy Design for quite a while and are pleased to have their talented people join forces with the Bergmann Associates’ team,” said Bergmann CEO Tom Mitchell. “Bergmann is well positioned for the anticipated economic upswing and adding staff in our growth markets is one of several aggressive approaches we have recently taken,” added Mitchell.

Bergmann’s Building Design Group is now the largest of its five major business segments (Civil Works, Transportation, Planning, Land Development and Building Design), with just over 100 employees.
