PRESS RELEASE

“PREHISTORIC DESIGN” DEBUTS IN TROY, NY AS DINOSAUR BBQ PREPARES TO OPEN

Rochester, NY, November 4, 2010 – The anxiously awaited grand opening of Dinosaur Bar-B-Que’s fourth location in Troy, NY, is almost a reality. The Grand Opening is scheduled for next Wednesday, November 10th.

For the past two years, Bergmann Associates has been part of the team helping transform the vacant riverfront restaurant into Dinosaur’s now signature, one-of-a-kind, ultra-welcoming biker-bar gone Bar B Que joint. Beyond the standard architectural and engineering technical services, Bergmann helped develop the rustic appearance, with such features as new gable roof structures and entrance canopy that utilize reclaimed siding and metal roofing - reminiscent of local agrarian structures. Other interesting design features include custom lighting, exposed heavy timber columns and beams, tongue and groove wood ceiling treatments, and neon signage. Providing both take-out and dine-in service, including 132 seats of outdoor dining on the Hudson River, customers are expected to flock by car, boat, foot and even train.

Converting old buildings into a true festival for the senses has been Dinosaur’s model for the first three locations (Syracuse, Rochester and Harlem, NY). Blues blaring tunes, irresistible sweet smoky smells and funky retro décor all hit you at once when you walk into Dinosaur. “They are one of the most respected, talked about and hailed BBQ restaurants in the Country for their food and atmosphere,” commented Bergmann Associates’ Architect Kevin Renaghan. “We were thrilled to be part of Dinosaur’s expansion.”
